SIC REPORTS $32 MILLION IN HIGHWAY PROJECTS UNDER CONTRACT

The Maine State Highway Commission reports that during the month of June seven construction projects were awarded to contract totaling an estimated $371,000.

Highway construction will be carried out in Milo-Orvilleville, New Portland and Upton. The Milo-Orvilleville project calls for the reconstruction of 0.7 of a mile of Routes 6 and 16 south-east of the built-up area of Milo. Existing hazardous curves will be eliminated by building the section of highway on new location.

The work in New Portland will reconstruct a section of Route 27 northwest of the village from the end of previous improvement. The construction will extend for slightly over a mile along the Carrabasset River. This project is another in a series of needed improvements to an important access road to developing recreational areas of the state.

In Upton the project will continue the improvement of Route 26 toward the New Hampshire boundary. A new alignment will eliminate dangerous curves and dips and result in a straighter section of widened highway with a firm base and proper drainage.

Four bridge construction projects were awarded during the month. A Gorham-Windham project will replace the antiquated part wood, part steel bridge that carries Mallison Street over the Presumpscot River between the two communities. The bridge is on an access route to two important industries in the area and the present structure is not adequate by modern standards for the traffic it bears. The new bridge will be a modern 2-span steel and concrete structure 152 feet in length with a 28-foot roadway.

In Grand Falls the concrete bridge that carries Route 188 over the Passadumkeag River will be widened. The 44-foot span will be modified to increase the roadway width to 22 feet.

A project in Abillon will replace the outmoded concrete bridge on Benton Road at Mill Stream with a modern structural steel plate arch on concrete abutments. The new bridge will be continued on Page Eight

COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

The men of the Highway Department are installing the granite curbing in front of the new Casco Bank building. After this is completed an asphalt sidewalk will be constructed.

There have been several inquiries as to when we plan to tar from people who wish to have driveways done at the same time. We had planned on doing it before this but we have to wait for the sand to dry to some extent. It is very slow screening wet sand and we have to pay for the use of the equipment by the hour. The sand becomes very expensive material if conditions are not favorable to fair production.

There is consideration being given to the possibility of changing the location of Paradise Road where it connects with Route 35. The State is interested in improving the intersection and has indicated there may be some assistance available if the town wishes to make a change. A study is being made as to what is the best route to follow to improve the situation, also the costs involved.

REV. SEIDENSTICKER TO SPEAK AT MEETING OF SENIOR CITIZENS, JULY 9

The regular monthly meeting of the Senior Citizens is to be July 9 in the Rumford Point Church and promises an interesting program.

The speaker will be Rev. Walter A. Seidensticker for 38 years in parish ministry in Alberta, Canada, Oklahoma and Wisconsin. He was for 11 years Public Relations representative of Bethesda Lutheran Home, Watertown, Wisc., a home and training school for the mentally retarded.

He is now semi-retired representing the Home in the northeastern United States and a resident of Bethel since January 1963. The slides he will show are scenes from the work among the mentally retarded in Bethesda Lutheran Home, Watertown, Wisc., and are typical of the work among the retarded anywhere.

There may be members who would be glad of transportation to this meeting if your car has an empty seat or two.

HIGHWAY SAFETY GROUP TO WORK TO REGAIN EFFECTIVE DRINKING/DRIVING LAW

Chairman Jack Atwood of the Maine Highway Safety Committee says his group will begin work immediately on legislation which will return the drinking and driving law to its proven effectiveness.

Atwood said he has called a meeting of his sub-committee on legislation for this week. "The Highway Safety Committee was not involved in the drafting of the present Driving While Impaired law which has, in effect, repealed the strong points of the old Driving While Under the Influence Law."

Atwood pointed out that his Committee puts a great deal of time in gathering evidence, and in discussing proposed legislation before it is formulated for presentation to the Legislature. "This is our job," he said, "and the Committee members and the office staff take it very seriously."

Atwood declined comment on whether or not the apparent loss of parts of the drunk driving law would significantly affect the 1968 and 1969 accident picture.

21-25 YR. OLDS MAY REGISTER FOR LIQUOR I. D. CARDS AT FIRE STATION, JULY 13

The State Liquor Commission, through Chairman Keith H. Ingraham, has announced that those between the ages of 21 and 25 years of age in Bethel and surrounding area, may pick up their adult Identification Card applications for their I. D. cards, both male and female, at the Town Office and the State Liquor Store in Bethel. The I. D. cards will be issued only to those between the ages of 21 through 25.

The adult identification card applications are self-explanatory and must be completed by the applicant.

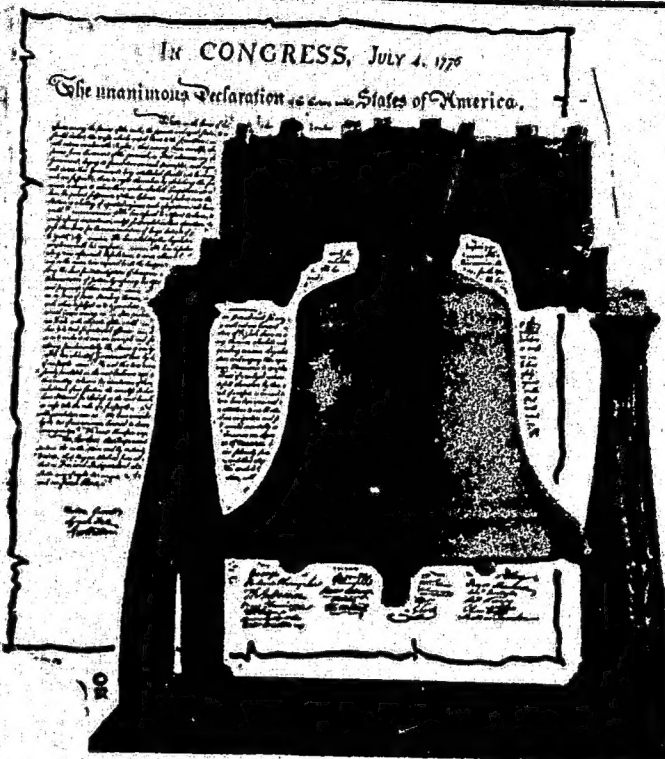

Applicants with applications and the necessary "proof of age" documents may present themselves on July 13 between 9 a. m. and 2 p. m. E.D.S.T. at the Bethel Fire Station for the necessary picture to be taken to initiate the processing of their I. D. cards.

The I. D. cards are issued free of charge for those 21 through 25 years of age, both male and female, and are not mandatory but are permissive for those who desire them. The I. D. card is the only proof of age card recognized by the Commission and licensees may refuse to sell alcoholic beverages to those not having the card.

It will take some time to cover the entire State and it is hoped by the Liquor Commission that all those eligible applicants in the Bethel area will take advantage of this opportunity, for it will be a long time before members of the Commission's Identification Bureau will return to this locality.

To date some 8,000 I. D. cards have been issued by the Commission. The Commission feels certain that when the card is issued statewide, it will greatly reduce the minor problem.

The I. D. card is 2 1/4" x 3 1/4" and is considered tamper-proof, insuring quick and positive identification of the holder. The card is greenish in color, with a color photo of the bearer, the signature and other necessary descriptive data of the person, such as age, height, weight, etc. The card with the picture, etc., before completion, is laminated. MONDAY FIRE DESTROYS WOODSTOCK FARM HOME

Woodstock Fire Department was called to the Scott Emmons farm on the old County Road, known as the back road to West Paris Monday afternoon at 5:30 where the buildings had been struck by lightning. A truck driver notified Mrs. Norton Emmons that the barn was on fire and she called both the Woodstock and the West Paris Fire Departments. A neighbor, Mrs. Hazel Cary notified the family. The department was hampered by the water supply, a lift of 34 feet from a nearby brook. Mr. and Mrs. Emmons have recently purchased a home in Norway where she has opened a ceramic studio.

Only a part of the frame of the house is standing. It is reported a total loss. The loss was not reported but is partially covered by insurance.

This house was the oldest frame building in Woodstock. It was built by Capt Samuel Stephens and during the 1820s this section of the town was the business center. It was the last house left in the district, the others having been moved away or burned.

It was occupied by the Bacon family for nearly 75 years and was sold to Scott Emmons about 1940.

DRIVE-IN CHURCH TO BE HELD IN RUMFORD

A drive-in church located at the Mammoth Mart parking lot will open in Rumford on Sunday, July 7. Services will be held on Sunday evenings at 8:45 through Aug. 11. Rev. Frederick H. Meyers of the United Baptist Church, West Paris, said the services will include a sermon, choir music and a film. Rev. Meyers' church and the First Baptist Church of Mexico are sponsors.

Before pictures are taken, all supporting "proof of age" documents with the application will be checked by inspectors of the Commission's Enforcement Division Identification Bureau and the right is reserved to refuse to process applications when the documents are not acceptable.

HIGHWAY SAFETY DIRECTOR OPTIMISTIC ABOUT FOURTH OF JULY WEEK END

The Director of the Maine Highway Safety Committee says that he is somewhat optimistic about the 4th of July week end.

Peter McKenney said, "we are entering the second most dangerous driving period of the summer with a better death and accident record than last year. Deaths are down appreciably, injuries are about the same as last year, and accidents are running about the same. If we can keep the momentum of this slight edge, we will end the year in December with less deaths and injuries than we had originally expected."

McKenney went on to say that in spite of the dangerous driving period of the four-day holiday week end, regular week end periods throughout the summer would actually show a worse record. "There are thousands more vehicles on our Maine highways over a holiday, the safety official pointed out, and most of the vehicles are travelling greater distances; however, the accident rate seem to be somewhat lower per mile travelled than over a comparable period of time over a non-holiday period."

The Highway Safety Committee urges drivers to "watch out for the other guy," and to use seat belts.

MINERAL AND GEM ASSOC. EXHIBITION AND ROUNDUP

The Oxford County Mineral and Gem Association is sponsoring the seventh annual Western Maine Gem and Mineral Exhibition and Roundup on July 6 and 7 at the new school house in Rumford Center. The hours, as announced by show chairman, Henry Swan of Bethel, are Saturday, 8 a. m. to 10 p. m. and on Sunday from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. Mr. Swan also stated that there will be door prizes and that rock hounds bring their trading material. Ralph Spencer of Rumford is the dealer chairman.

Miss Louann Brown is spending a week with her parents, from her studies at Thayer School of Medical Technology, Waterville.

MISS KENNAGH TO ATTEND F. H. A. CONVENTION

Miss Janis Kennagh, State F. H. A. Parliamentarian, leaves Sunday morning by plane for Harbour - Miami, Florida, to attend the National Future Homemakers of America Convention. She will be joining other Maine delegates in Portland Saturday.

Miss Janis Kennagh

The theme of this year's convention is Citizenship—F. H. A.'s Challenge to Chenish. The objective is to create responsible awareness and encourage worthwhile involvement of youth as citizens in the home, school and community.

Janis has been selected to represent the Maine delegation in the National Roll Call on the opening day of convention.

She will be attending sessions and be a member of the discussion group which is to take a look at citizenship concerns and exchange views about how F. H. A. can help youth assume citizenship roles.

SCHOLARSHIPS AWARDED FOR CONSERVATION STUDY

The supervisors of the Oxford County Soil and Water Conservation District awarded four scholarships to Maine's Conservation School at Bryant Pond, for the 1968 season.

All those receiving scholarships are teachers in Oxford County. They are Mrs. Betty Perry, Rumford; Mrs. Norman Vashaw of Canton; Mrs. Lillian Abbott, Sumner and Wendell Brewster, South Paris.

Mrs. Perry and Mrs. Vashaw attended the Conservation Education Workshop which runs from June 17 through July 5. This course is intended for all elementary and secondary teachers who wish to increase their effectiveness in natural resources, including their intelligent use and management.

Mr. Brewster and Mrs. Abbott will attend the course in Basic Field Ecology, which will be held from July 8 through July 26. Basic Field Ecology, is designed for secondary school science teachers with a broad background in the Natural Sciences and for elementary school teachers who desire studies beyond those included in introductory natural history courses.

The scholarships amount to one half of the expenses at the Conservation School for those who live on campus and total expenses for those who commute.

The supervisors of the Oxford County Soil and Water Conservation District have awarded scholarships to some twenty Oxford County teachers over the past ten years.

GEN. ALGER POINTS TO BETHEL-GOULD HISTORY IN DEDICATION REMARKS

Gould Academy is pleased to present the address of Lieutenant General James D. Alger, class of 1930, in dedication of the engraved tablets commemorating the devoted service of generations of Gould Trustees.

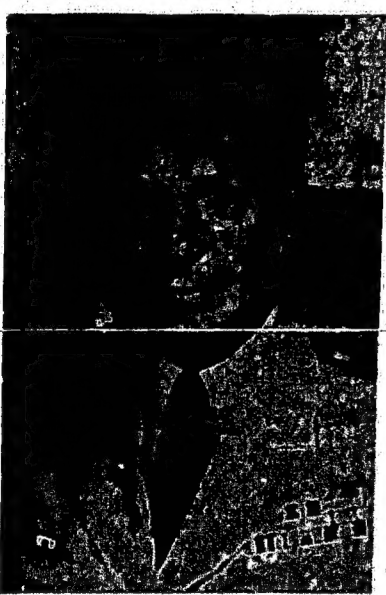

These enduring and beautiful monuments of commitment to the education and training of youth, now permanently installed in the portico of Bingham Hall, bear eloquent testimony to decades of emotional investment in the development of the young people of Bethel and surrounding towns.

The Academy is deeply grateful to these Trustees and welcomes the tangible evidence of their devotion to youth.

Following is the address of Gen. Alger during commencement exercises at the Academy on June 9.

Ambassador Tibbets, Dr. Davidson, Members of the Board of Trustees, Mr. Bigelow, Distinguished Guests, Members of the Class of 1968:

For me, having been asked by Dr. Davidson to participate in this significant event, our commencement exercises, is indeed an honor and a privilege. One for which I am not quite sure I am fully qualified, but one to which I bring a devotion and affection for Gould, Bethel and these Oxford Hills nurtured by some 41 years of sentimental association. To those of us whom duty calls to far off places, a return to this lovely setting is inspiring and I know that our distinguished Ambassador shares these feelings with me and many others who are here today.

This is a somber period as the nation pays tribute to Senator Robert F. Kennedy — here in Bethel this is also a significant occasion, for many reasons: the continued on Page Six

UNIVERSITY OF MAINE QUESTION/ANSWER

This is the first in a series of articles in question and answer style designed to outline the work of a number of departments at the University of Maine at Orono of primary interest to students, potential students and their parents, as well as the general public. Providing the answers to today's questions is Dr. Bruce Poulton, first director of the new U-M South Campus at Dow Air Force Base.

Question: Where is the new South Campus located and how was it acquired by the university?

Answer: South Campus is an area of some 200 acres containing 50 buildings with 800,000 square feet of space located adjacent to Interstate 95 in Bangor and was acquired by transfer from the federal government with the cooperation of the city of Bangor in the leasing arrangement.

Q: What will make up the new campus in this area of Dow Field?

A: The campus will comprise approximately eight dormitories capable of housing from 1200 to 1500 students, two dining halls, classrooms, a gymnasium, a student union building, a chapel and an administration building, among other structures. About half of the buildings are new, brick buildings.

Q: How will South Campus be used initially when it opens this fall?

A: It will be used to house 600 freshman students, half of them in two-year programs and the other half in four-year baccalaureate programs. They will come from all five colleges and most of their classes will be held at South Campus although there will be some commuting to Orono. These freshmen will have an advantage over those at Orono in that they will be allowed to have their own cars for travel between campuses. Those without cars will be able to take buses which will run every half hour up to 7 p. m. from Bangor to Orono and return.

Q: What do you envision for South Campus in later years?

A: Over the long run it might become a two-year campus for Orono. There initially will be some 12 or 13 two-year programs offered there and more are needed. A long-range view might project two-year programs in such areas as general education, dental hygiene or assistants, law enforcement, aeronautical technology, broadcast technology.

Q: Is the South Campus likely to grow?

A: If the University of Maine is to grow, it will have to grow by having students at South Campus. There is no extra dormitory space now at Orono and no dormitories on the planning boards. It may be two or three years before the dormitories at South Campus reach the 1200 to 1500 maximum.

Q: What are the chief problems in converting an air base to a campus?

A: You have to overcome the stigma of being on a military base site and you wonder if it is the right type of environment. However, this particular area of the base was designed much as a campus when constructed and with additional landscaping South Campus will be as nice a campus as there is in the state today.

GREENWOOD CITY

— Mrs. Collette Morgan, Correspondent —

Many afternoons over the years I have seen it as I have walked along the tree shaded road on my way home from school. One could easily be tempted to stop for a moment at this small cottage, set well back and surrounded by green lawns where trees droop their cool shadows. Watching their tips against the sky I could see them faintly stirring as if at the passing of an unseen presence. The water lapped on the shore breaking in small ripples against the rocks. The liquid notes of birds far off in the woods repeated their notes of melody again and again.

It was evident that day loomed its hold and was beginning to give over to night. The soft sound of the water was nice to listen to as it made faint accompaniment for those same distant birds.

I always looked toward the cottage as I passed and was greeted by a cheery "Hello" or a wave from the friends sitting there listening to the same water lapping on the shore and to the faint rumble of waves as they reached their porch.

Across the pond the mountains were printed sharply against the sky waiting for the time of a memorable sunset when daylight finally faded.

This same little cottage now looks across the lawn of delicate pastel shades of yellows and reds instead of short cut grass. Near its walls cluster the roses and some other shrubs planted there over the years.

Unmindful of the many rains and taller grasses this season, the robins hop over the lawns and between the drops shuttle the swallows back and forth to their little home near the caves.

The cottage, the sound of falling water, the ripple on the pond, the distant mountains, the birds, the calm light of sunset, all are the same but the whole character of "Fairview" has changed this past year for our friends from within have moved away. "Fairview" that knew the touch of warmth and of friendship no longer shares with us.

However memories such as these knit the days of the past with days of the present and so "Fairview" will always be the "Fairview" of yesterday to us as we hold such pleasant thoughts for those who treasured it over many years.

The most exciting news—the sun shines today!

Fred Curtis was on vacation this last week and spent most of his time at his camp in Blenheim. Albert and Walter Curtis were there a few days also.

Helen Bacon, West Paris, was a caller Saturday evening at Mr. and Mrs. Leonas Holt's and Mrs. Clyde Morgan's.

Bernard Morgan had eye surgery.

MAINE AS I SEE IT

By Ed Penley, Editor of the Editorial Page, Portland Press Herald and Guest writer for the Maine Department of Economic Development

When God created the State of Maine he did strange and wondrous things to the granite shield that underlies the State's soil. Surfacing to the top, in thousands of locations, are pegmatite dikes containing quartz and feldspar. The dikes, when blasted open with explosives in the commercial mining of feldspar, often contain "pockets" of semi-precious stones of a variety and quality rarely excelled in any part of the world.

And it is this vast treasure trove, most of it in the western part of the state that brings thousands of rock-hounds to Maine every year.

A rock-hound, dear reader, is not a strange, new type of dog. It is an amateur, and often a professional, searcher for minerals and gems, a patient explorer who counts his Maine vacation a success if he finds a rare dark-blue tourmaline (mostly they are green or pink) or a fine specimen of aquamarine or zircon.

Like a golf bug, the gem bug is impossible to eradicate once acquired. It is now being acquired by entire families who roam the countryside looking for unusual rocks and semi-precious stones, mostly in abandoned feldspar mines and mine dumps.

The variety found in this treasure house is enormous, and it is said that more different kinds of minerals and gems are to be found in Maine than anywhere else. Some are very valuable and some are not; they include the tourmalines, amethysts, zircons, kunzite, topaz, aquamarines, beryl, garnets, rose quartz, and a hundred others, mostly ending in "ite" or "um."

Most of the prospectors start their searches at Stanley Perham's famous gem shop in West Paris, Oxford County, which adjoins New Hampshire on the West and Quebec Province at its northern tip, or else they wind up there to see the shop's unparalleled collection of cut stones, crystals and museum specimens. Here they may obtain maps showing the better known mines, textbooks on gems and minerals and equipment, the basic tool being a prospector's hammer. Perham, a national authority on gem stones, is generous with his time and advice.

Moreover, he is situated right in the middle of the largest number of mines, some of them World-famous in their own right. Six miles away is Mount Mica, which has produced exquisite tourmalines seen in many American museums. The town of Albion is not much farther, with its Bumpus mine, producer of the largest Beryl crystals—and largest!—means crystals weighing tons—ever discovered in this country. Thirty miles away is Mount Apatite, named for the fine apatite found there, and now reopened to rock-hounds again. In the western part of the county is Deer Hill, in the town of Stowe, renowned for its gem-quality purple amethyst. Close by, a short time ago, another deposit of amethyst was uncovered by a boy prodding the roots of an overturned tree. Prospectors may dig here too.

At the foot of Grafton Notch, where Maine is creating a big new State Park, a stream passing beneath the highway is the source of fine gem crystals, and

LADIES AID OF RUMFORD PT. CHURCH TO HOLD SALE ON THURSDAY, JULY 18

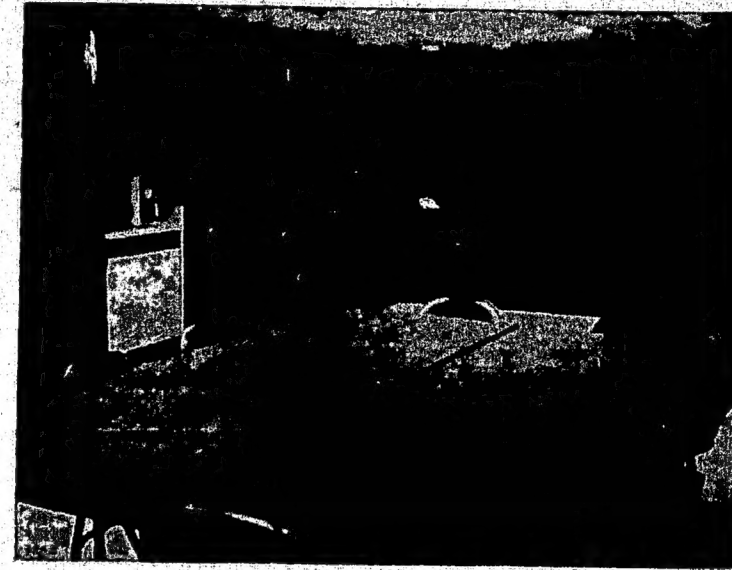

Plans have been completed for the Annual Fair of the Ladies Aid of the Rumford Point Congregational Church to be held on Thursday, July 18. The fair will start at three o'clock in the afternoon and supper will be served from five to six-thirty o'clock. The general chairman of the fair and sale is Mrs. Katherine Penney, president of the Ladies Aid. The co-chairmen of the supper are Louise Elliott and Florence Learned. They will be assisted by Helen Stearns, Gladys Bartlett and Helen Martin. The supper menu will consist of home made baked beans, casseroles, salad, rolls, assorted pies and beverages. Everyone is welcome.

this is worth exploring. If the rock-hound can find the old Thomas mine in Greenwood, he may dig out some rare caesium beryl—a diamond-like semi-precious stone. For variety, the prospector may journey north to the Swift River, pan gold dust from its bed, or search for blue and green jasper.

Because of its superb Summer and Fall climate, Maine is a comfortable State for rock-hounds, and their avocation is made all the more comfortable by the motor camper and the increasing number of public and private camping grounds, equipped with at least the basic utilities.

And Maine people, many of whom have rock collections of their own, are helpful and friendly to strangers whose eccentric occupation is not strange at all in a State where eccentricity is perfectly normal.

There's many a treasure still to be discovered in Oxford County, and each new "find" makes new converts.

HATHAWAY REPORTS

June 26, 1968
The prophets of doom who have been claiming that our National economy is going to pot will be hard pressed to explain away the signs of continuing prosperity and growth indicated in the profits earned by America's biggest corporations in the first quarter of 1968.

A survey of more than 500 of the largest corporations discloses that they enjoyed a 13% profit gain over the same period last year.

Ford Motor Company nearly doubled its first quarter profits, a rise from $102.6 million to $222.4 million.

In all, the 509 firms surveyed had total profits of $5.1 billion, up $591 million from a year ago.

The auto and auto equipment industry, which is an excellent barometer of the U. S. economy, showed a 39.7% rise. Other industries enjoying notable rises in profits were drug manufacturers with 18.5% gains; textiles were up 20.9%, building materials 31% and office equipment manufacturers 29.5%.

The higher profits reflect a robust economy and are an indication that the American people are enjoying the increased buying power that prosperity provides.

Even though no fanfare distinguished the day, June 12, 1968 will be remembered as the day on which older workers' rights to obtain and hold jobs gained specific protection under law.

On that day, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967 which I sponsored came into force.

This law bars discrimination because of age in hiring, conditions of employment and retention on the job for workers between the ages of 40 and 65.

Many of the details of the law still have to be translated into

Labor Department regulations, but a recently published department pamphlet lists the broad provisions.

It is now against the law to fail to hire, or to fire or otherwise discriminate against a job applicant or employee because of age—to classify workers on a basis of age in such a way as to deprive them of opportunities or benefits.

It is likewise now illegal for employment agencies or labor unions to use age as a criterion for referring people to jobs or to discriminate against older workers by indicating age preferences or limitations in advertising job opportunities.

Many older workers have known the humiliation and despair that comes from being denied employment because he or she was an "old" 40 or 50 years of age. They were the victims of attitudes which have come down through the years from earlier days when old age came much earlier.

Today, people in good health are vigorous and alert up to the accepted retirement age of 65 and more. The Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967 will rid them of prejudice based on age and expand their opportunities for uninterrupted employment.

Maine Guide Joe King of Rockwood, Moosehead Lake, demonstrates his skill at spinning a floating log. He retired a few years ago after a long undefeated reign as the "World's Log-Rolling Champ," a title he retained during many years of competition at sportsmen's shows. The other two are Northern Maine Lumberjack Roundup, Ashland, July 13-14; and Tall Timber Days, Stratton, August 15-18.

GEN. ALGER'S REMARKS LINKS BETHEL/GOULD HISTORY FOR 132 YEARS

Commencement Exercises for the Class of 1968; the visit and participation in these ceremonies of one of the outstanding diplomats of our nation, Ambassador Margaret Joy Tibbets; the Dedication of the Memorial, the tablets, recording the names of the Trustees of Gould since its founding 132 years ago. And it is to this latter ceremony that we now direct our attention.

I trust you have all seen these lovely and impressive tablets, appropriately fashioned from slate from the famous quarries at Monson, Maine, and inscribed by the John Stevens Shop of Newport, Rhode Island; which as a matter of interest, was founded in 1705 and whose artisans are considered the finest in the country. You may not have yet had time to read all the names inscribed on the tablets. I hope you will do this before you leave, because Gould's history, its story, and really the history of Bethel, is unfolded for those who will reflect for a moment.

The story opens in 1836—only 16 years after Maine had become a state, in this eventful year a handful of far-sighted men here in Bethel decided that the little community urgently needed an educational center at the secondary school level for the young people growing up in these Oxford Hills, then still ringing to the sound of the pioneer's ax. The names of these first Trustees, of what soon was incorporated as Bethel Academy, read as a roster of the pioneers of the town and of the area. And here we are deeply indebted to Eva Bean, our eminent historian, who has done such marvelous work in preserving for us our heritage. This roster of first Trustees could well be a register of Bethel today because descendants of these early settlers and first Trustees of the Academy are even today living, working, serving and raising their children here. Barbour Bartlett, Robbins Brown, Jedediah Burbank, Timothy Carter, George Whitefield Chapman, Robert Andrews Chapman, Stephen Emery, Charles Frost, Phineas Frost, William Frye, John Grover, John Hastings, Timothy Hastings, Valentine Little, Moses Moran, Charles Soule and Levi Whitman—the first Board of Trustees. And attesting to the continuity of our heritage are these interesting genealogical details:

a. Dr. Timothy Carter, the first President of the Board of Trustees, Mrs. Rebecca Carter Bailey, a member of the Gould faculty, is a great granddaughter of Dr. Timothy Carter, a noted physician and benefactor of Gould and the first President of the Board of Trustees. Four of Dr. Carter's great grandsons also live in the area.

b. Seventh generation grandsons of Robbins Brown are Gould students today.

c. Franklin and William Chapman of Bethel are descendants of George Chapman.

d. John Grover of the Gould Faculty, Robert Grover, his brother, now serving in Laos, Frederick and Walter Grover of Bethel and Robert Grover, Jr., who will join the Gould Faculty this Fall, are all descendants of Dr. John Grover.

e. Bob Hastings, a member of the current Board, is a great grandson of John Hastings.

f. And Henry Hastings, a distinguished attorney here in Bethel, is the great grandson of Timothy Hastings.

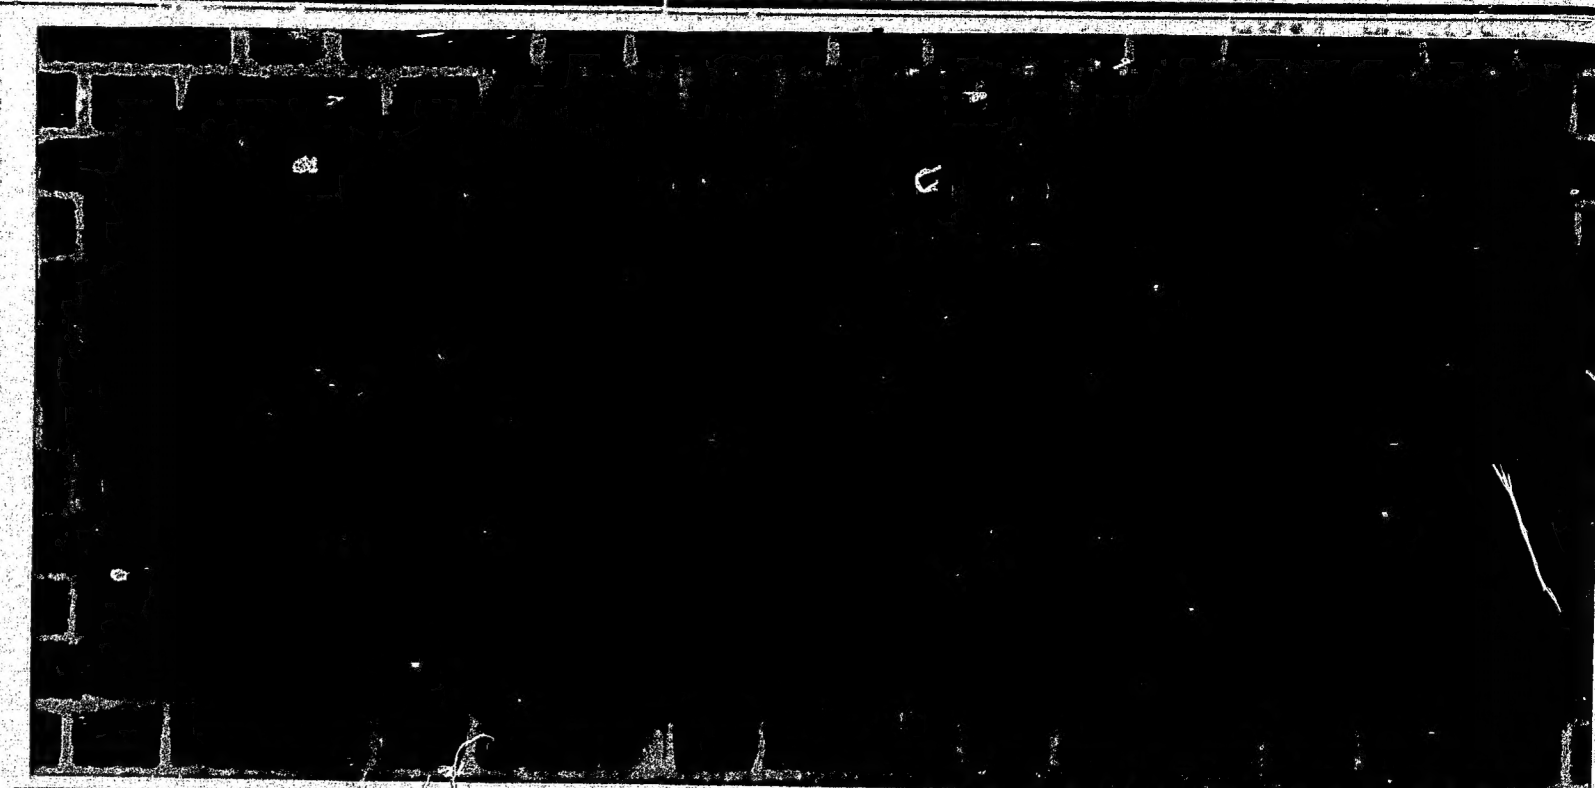

g. Harry Mason, our Trustee Emeritus, who will attain his 100th birthday in August of this year, is a grand-nephew of Harry Mason who joined the Board in 1837.

And as we move to the more current period, most of us here today remember the devotion with which Dr. Tibbets served Bethel and Gould as physician and Trustee. Mrs. Tibbets honors us with her presence today along with her distinguished daughter. Gould also numbers two other Tibbets amongst its graduates—Mary and Ashby.

Paul C. Thurston, a member of the Board for thirty years, served as Treasurer, Vice-President and President, and today Mrs. Thurston is with us along with Murray, a present member of the Board, and Rosalie, whose husband, Dan Wight, is a classmate of mine.

What a remarkable and unique association Gould has had then through the Board of Trustees with Bethel and generations of young people who have spent their formative years on this lovely campus!

And on those tablets are engraved the names of still other Trustees who have distinguished themselves in many fields and have enriched Gould by their service on the Board. Dr. John Gehring, who served on the Board for 35 years and was President of the Board of Trustees for 13 years. Dr. Gehring's wife, the beloved Marian True Gehring, was the daughter of Dr. Nathaniel True, one of Gould's great headmasters. It was Dr. and Mrs. Gehring who first introduced Mr. William Bingham to Bethel and Gould and in paying tribute to our Trustees, we should also honor him whose philanthropy and interest in Gould and Bethel has so greatly endowed this school and benefited the area. To go on now—Dr. George Farnsworth, the grandson of Dr. Nathaniel True, and son of Marion True Gehring, for 17 years a member of the Gould Board of Trustees; Joseph Barr, an outstanding engineer, who served the Board for eleven years and whose son, Bob, continues the family association with Gould as the Treasurer of our current Board; Dr. Payson Smith, a distinguished educator, whose guidance has been invaluable to Gould in recent years; Mr. Edmond J. Vachon, a member of the Board and the most recent in a long line of distinguished Headmasters, which includes Dr. Nathaniel Tuckerman True, Dr. Frank E. Hanscom, and Mr. Elwood F. Ireland. It was Mr. Vachon who, in his tenure of 18 years, raised Gould to academic heights few schools in the nation have attained and won for Gould an unheard-of ten-year accreditation. And finally, Dr. Sidney W. Davidson, the present Chairman of the Board, who has served Gould, Bethel and the area, as a member of the Board for 33 years.

And, of course, there are others, many others, who have left their imprint on the school, but time does not permit a more detailed and comprehensive eulogy. These tablets which we dedicate today, pay homage to the long line of men who have guided Gould as Trustees and the school itself stands as a tribute to them, to the Headmasters and others who have contributed so much to the school and through Gould, to the town, and it is especially significant, I feel, to point out also that this is primarily a tribute to men of the Bethel area, for it is only a relative few of the Trustees who have not been residents here.

Gould is Bethel and Bethel and the area are Gould. It has always been thus and it should always be. Each has a big stake in the other. They are mutually dependent and, although each could survive without the other's support, they need each other. They must work together. They must support each other, and a major factor in this cooperation, this support, is the help we all, especially the alumni, can give. Gould is our school. It always will be.

There are those amongst us who would nostalgically have wished that time would stand still and that the Academy could go on serving as it has for generations past. But time and evolutionary processes have a cruel way of reminding us that indeed life doesn't stand still and we cannot live in the past. The steady growth of the area increased the demands for student space and forced an increasingly unacceptable exclusion policy on Gould's administration. And now as we move into the future, after some traumatic adjustments, the Academy is retaining its character as a preparatory school of excellence, hence, we should certainly feel just as close to our school as we ever have.

And today, more than at any time in the past, we need to tighten, and strengthen, these bonds as Gould moves through its transition and sets its course. All of us, Trustees, Faculty, alumni, citizens of Bethel and the area, and students, we all have a tremendous responsibility—Gould's future and the future of generations of students to come. What a challenge this is—difficult enough under what one hesitatingly might call "normal" conditions—but now a formidable task as we view the strife, the turmoil, the trial, the tribulations about us in the world which we are preparing these young people to enter. The speed with which these changes, many of which are violent, are developing, call to mind a remark by Alfred North Whitehead:

"...Tradition is warped by the assumption that each generation will substantially live amid the conditions governing the lives of its fathers and will transmit those conditions to mould with equal force the lives of its children. We are living in the first period of human history for which this assumption is false. — In the past the time-span of important change was considerable longer than that of a single human life. —Today this time-span is considerable shorter than that of human life, and accordingly, our training must prepare individuals to face a novelty of conditions."

"A novelty of conditions"—a fantastic array of challenges for which we must prepare the students of today and tomorrow. The scientific explosion, space, oceanography, and the still challenging frontier—South America, Africa, Australia—social science; all of these offer to today's graduates horizons unlimited, if approached in an orderly, evolutionary process by young men and women who understand, believe in and who live by the basic principle which have guided our nation to greatness.

And, forebodingly, one of the greatest and most threatening challenges to our world today is a force, an evil force, a movement, a philosophy, which has marked our nation for ultimate destruction in its move to control the world. And as it sows the seeds of enmity, of bitterness, of hatred, of deviousness, which pit nation against nation, group against group, race against race, yes, and even brother against brother, we find that youth, the young people of our nation, are one of the primary objectives of this alien and evil movement and philosophy.

So these are not only changing times, challenging times, but they are also perilous times for which we are preparing our youth. And I was particularly impressed by the Scripture reading by Reverend George Stebbins, and the excellent sermon by Reverend Robert Crist. Their themes were especially pertinent and their subjects timely. So, as we dedicate these tablets to the men who have guided Gould's destiny through 132 years; let us, all of us, Trustees, Faculty, alumni, students, citizens of Bethel and the area, rededicate ourselves to the principles, to the ideals, on which our nation stands and for which free men strive. Let us reaffirm our adherence to Gould's aims, Gould's objectives, and in so doing, let us not forget the words of the Gould Hymn, written by Doris Lord:

"Guide our feet, our souls, our hearts, in stormy days or calm, make us conscious of the aims that Gould has kept in view, may we ever mindful be: To thine own self be true!"

TROUT PONDS DISCUSSED AT BRYANT POND MEETING

David Allan, Biology specialist with the Soil Conservation Service in Maine and New Hampshire discussed trout ponds at a recent meeting held at Donald Demarest's farm and pond in Woodstock.

He pointed out that trout could be stocked as high as 600 to 750 per acre of pond if the water is deep, has plenty of oxygen and some supplemental feeding is done.

Allan said that pond trout only average about two years life span, although a few reach several years. From his experience pond owners harvest the most fish by fishing one half of the trout out the season after stocking, clearing the balance the next year and then restocking. "Trout will grow nearly twice as fast by feeding commercial pellets with natural feed." "There are pond records of 15 inch to 17 inch trout."

Allan said, "It's generally better not to fertilize ponds unless the owner wants to follow an exacting schedule. Trout may be robbed of oxygen and weeds may result."

Allan said that in addition to stocking it is sometimes possible to increase trout in a pond by providing spawning areas. "Trout prefer gravel beds about 1 1/2 feet below water so they do not freeze."

In discussing trout food Allan collected samples of plankton from the pond with a nylon cone net. He explained that microscopic algae are eaten by tiny animals. This continues in a chain until small equable animals and insects become trout food.

Pond weeds often become a problem according to Allan. This can be prevented some by liming shallow water. Cat tails can be pulled as they appear. Other weeds can sometimes be controlled through recommendations of the Maine Department of Inland Fish and Game.

Among those attending the pond meeting were: host, Donald Demarest, and son of Woodstock, Charles House and daughter of Rumford Point, Stuart Cooper of Rumford, Earl Rowell of Sumner, Morris Bryant of Sumner, Andrew Haverinen of South Paris, Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Gofjen of Bethel, Thomas Boyd of Buckfield and Charles Verrill and son of Paris Hill. The Oxford County Soil and Water Conservation District helps interested people in pond planning and management since ponds are considered good land use, and offer food, recreation and beauty to land owners according to Lerone Damon, Chairman.

have a 14-foot span and carry the full width of the road.

Bog Brook Bridge on the Marshall Road between Mechanic Falls and Minot, an old plank dock structure, will be replaced with a 73-foot steel and concrete span. The new bridge will have a 28-foot roadway and be located 25 feet downstream from the present crossing. The new location will eliminate the hazardous "S" curve in the present approaches. During the month of June there were 11 projects completed at a total estimated cost of $2,908,016. Officially completed was an interstate paving project extending for 14 miles between Route 157 and Casey Road in Medway and Benedita.

A combination bridge, highway and beautification project was completed in Bethel along U. S. Route 2. The major part of the work was the construction of a new bridge over the Androscoggin River just north of the built-up area. The 3-span welded girder structure is 400 feet in length and has a 30-foot roadway. The approaching highway was rebuilt for about 0.6 of a mile. Included in the contract was the construction of a scenic turnout just south of the bridge and a rest area 3 miles north of the crossing.

Construction in Eddington and Clifton along Route 9 has continued modernization of the highway in that area from East Eddington extending easterly about 2 miles into a portion of Clifton.

A project completed in Kennebunk rebuilt over one-half mile of Route 9 beginning at Branch Brook Bridge near the Wells town line and extending easterly.

Six bridge projects were completed during the month. South Street Bridge in Biddeford was replaced with a modern structural steel plate pipe. Bennett Bridge and Oak Hill Bridge in Buckfield were removed and modern, box-culvert type reinforced concrete structures built in their place. The old wooden bridge on the Belvedere Road across Oyster Creek between Damariscotta and Nobleboro was replaced with modern twin structural steel plate pipes. Olson Bridge, which carries Route 16 over the Magalloway River at Wilson's Mills in Lincoln Plantation is now a modern 3-span steel and concrete structure at a new location to improve the alignment at the crossing. In Wellington, Weeks Bridge has been constructed consisting of a structural steel plate pipe with the crossing moved upstream to correct the alignment.

On July 2, 1968 the State Highway Commission reported 108 Federal Aid and State projects in various stages of construction. The total estimated cost including preliminary engineering, right of way and construction amounts to: Primary, $12,647,885; Secondary, $8,399,915; Interstate, $6,575,332; Urban, $1,734,846; Highway Beautification Projects, $287,510; State Bridge Act, $799,000; State Projects, $1,747,993; Special State Aid Project, $115,306; for a grand total of $32,278,281.

The 108 projects underway include 62 highway and combination highway and bridge projects totaling approximately 74 miles, 19 bridge projects, 2 roadside improvement projects, 8 paving projects, 10 beautification projects, and 7 traffic signal projects.

WEST PARIS NURSING HOME HAS $16,400 PLEDGED

Ledgeview Memorial Home, Inc. reported $16,400 received in gifts and pledges to its building fund at a meeting of civic and business leaders last Thursday night at West Paris. The meeting was held in the Rumford Bank and Trust Company rooms.

It was requested that those present select names of prospective workers whom they would invite to the next meeting to be held on Tuesday evening, July 2.

Mrs. Violet Bowen, administrator of Chapel Valley Nursing Home, related incidents which emphasize the urgency of the need for more space and also the need for fitting equipment and trained help which is vital to the care of those types of patients which the new home will serve.

GREEN AND GRANDEUR OF NTL

In the midst of green and grandeur and the waters of stream fed lakes, lies a culture within a township which has waged some life time stakes.

People of every description comprise this spectacular cult; gathered together for answers and perhaps some guidance and help.

The problems they have are many, the answers they have are few; each counting on this experience to help them face life and pull through.

Many their reasons in number, each have their personal goals. Most find their solutions forthcoming in the final tally and toll.

Friendships they make are the strongest and longest remembered it seems, although the acquaintance is broken the love is embedded in dreams.

These people, though their destiny patterned, each in their memory retain, a plan for a truthful culture, like the one found in Bethel, Maine.
